Mr. Reginald Bovill, our favorite English teacher, is going to be missed at Cody High School. He retires this June after a distinguished career of forty-seven years in the teaching profession.

Mr. Bovill, once All-American football player at Washington and Jefferson College in Pennsylvania, has sponsored many worthwhile projects.

He started Cody's famous traffic light system. His red circles at the crossroads have really helped to relieve congestion in the corridors during change of classes.

He has invented such things as stools shaped like animals for crippled children and all types of traffic games, some of which have been patented and sold to the public.

Mr. Bovill, probably the oldest teacher in the Detroit Public Schools, began his teaching career in Greenburg, Pennsylvania in 1915. In 1917 he came to Detroit and was hired to coach football first at Northwestern High School and later at Western High School. He came to Cody as an English teacher in January, 1954.

Since that time Mr. Bovill has influenced the lives of many Cody students. He has never had to be asked to do his job but does it happily, satisfied to know that he is enlightening and brightening a student's mind. His interest in our school is so sincere that he seldom misses any of our sports events.

Even though Mr. Bovill is leaving, his wonderful contributions to Cody High School will be with us always. They will remind us that he was a great teacher.

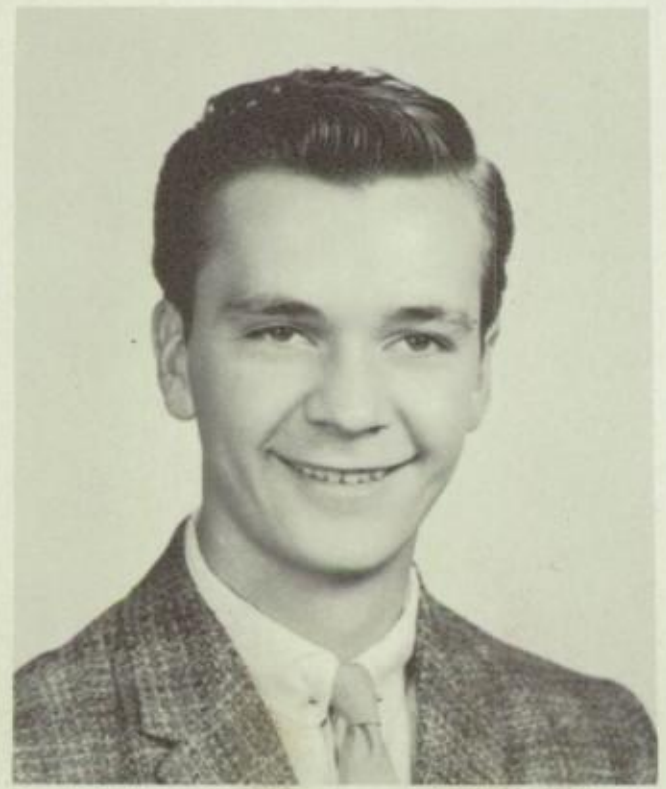

—by Pat Robb.

Teachers On Guard

Mr. Ruben Shell is helping his student Dwayne Harrison with overhead welding.

Miss Sandra Timmerbacka is obviously rather pleased with the work of her two best bookkeeping students, Joan Lackey and Karen Schultz.

Mrs. Joyce Alexander, art teacher, is examining Joyce Bright's silver and ebony pin which was displayed at The Detroit Institute of Arts. Stuart Glazer is wondering how she did it.

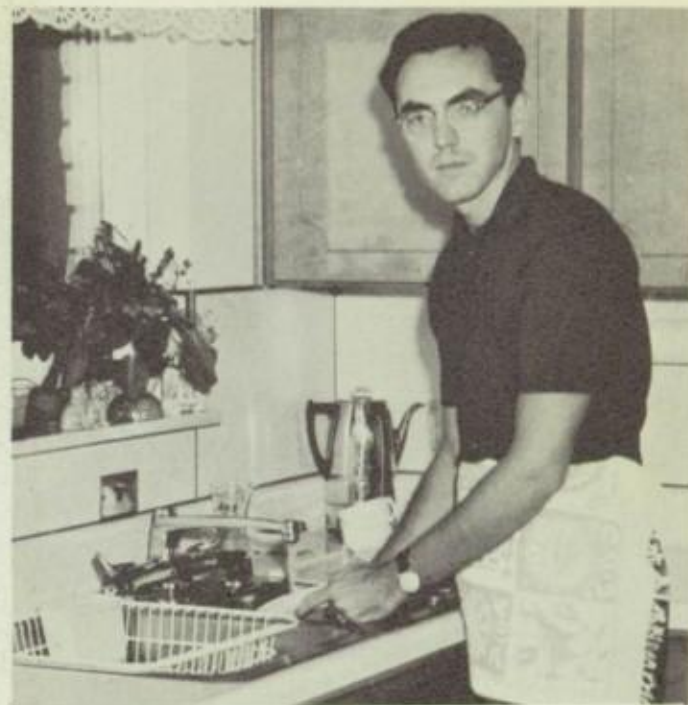

Mr. Richard Leland calmly conducts class discussion in his American History II course.

President's Message

Thanks for the diploma, Cody.

The high school diploma represents more than just 160 hours of credits. It represents four years of our lives invested with unlimited interest in the future. It is a token of the training our teachers have given us and the trust they have in us.

We have observed life, glimpsed its subtleties, and tasted a little of what has been written. Now we must perform.

Shakespeare called the world a stage and the people actors. Graduation does not end an act. It begins the play. We move onto the stage of reality unaware of the number of acts we shall play.

One thing is certain. The quality of our performance is our own responsibility. Our teachers have shown us a preview of these responsibilities and prepared us for them.

But like Shakespeare we must never neglect the audience. We are the audience as well as the actors. We are critics of the performance. It is not for us to pass a final judgment. That is Another's.

But it is our duty to be the kind of critic who demands a good show: a show of truth, a show of success, and a show of honor.

We shall always be grateful to Cody High School for the direction she gave us, a direction which will help us become skilled performers on the stage of the world.

Highlights of 1962

John Constable, senior class president, shakes hands with Mayor Miriani during The Civic Center Trip.

Roy Bullard receives his diploma and shakes the hand of Mr. Raymond Agren, assistant principal.

John Constable addresses the seniors on Class Day.

Bob Hartley and Ingrid Komula smile as they say their last good-bye to Beverly Walker at The Senior Prom.

Fall Production of the Cody Theater Guild "Arsenic and Old Lace"

Abby Brewster is breaking up a fight between her brothers, Mortimer and Jonathan. Actors are Carole Rockwell, Cathy Lingeman, Jim Robiscoe, Diana Aiello, Harlan VanCamp, and John Constable.

Wearing all that makeup, Larry (Cogut) looks older than Jerry (Sima).

Abby and Martha are discussing whether they should put Teddy in a home. Actors are Larry Cogut, Diana Aiello, Edward Hockett, and Harlan VanCamp.

In another violent scene Officer Klein (Doug Ogozaly) is trying to keep Dr. Einstein (John Constable) from attacking Lieutenant Rooney (Richard Brundage).

Dobie and Helen are dragged from their hiding place in a ventilating duct in the presence of astonished parents and teachers.

The Spring Play: The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis

Dobie (John Hanlon), urged on by Petey (Darrell Schwalm), tries to invite Limbo Lamb, the movie queen, to the school dance.

Rosemary Iaquina, in the role of Limbo Lamb, waits for an interview, while Stella, played by Judy Holtz, and her band snooze.

Bandarama: 1962

Tom Coon plays a trumpet solo, "Sugar Blues."

Dan Yessian makes a big hit with his clarinet solo, "Shine."

Noriko Hitomi, JoAnn Eshleman, Susan Yambrek, and the flute section play "Flutation."

Pam Trambauer, accompanied by Everett students, sings "Getting To Know You."

The Spring Festival

The Girls Choir lift up their voices in tune to "Water's Ripple and Flow."

Peg Lucia and Joanne Carlson sing "April Showers."

The Boys Choir performs "Brothers, Sing On."

Mr. Robert Jones leads the choir in "Lavendar Blue."

Winter Concert

Linda Hansler played "Sonata in G Minor" by Eccles on the bass viol.

Mr. Larry Teal led Cody's Concert Band in eight numbers and an encore at the Christmas concert.

Miss Arlene Seaman conducted the Cody String Orchestra in an American folk song and a concertino.

Even Frosty the Snowman enjoyed Cody's Winter Festival produced by the fine arts department.

President's Message

We enter high school as a young teenager; we graduate as a young adult. If we can use the knowledge gained in our high school years to make satisfactory decisions, we are on the road to maturity. The more advanced our education, the wiser and more accurate will be our decisions.

George Romney, president of American Motors, has said, "Aim high and aspire. Only through faith in God, yourself, and goals greater than yourself can develop the staying power required to overcome life's trials and disappointments."

Education has given us the ability to think and to act. It has provided us with the wisdom to choose the right from the wrong. It has enabled us to make wise choices.

We have found faith in ourselves and faith in our fellow men. We have learned how to become well-adjusted assets to the society in which we live.

But knowledge, like brotherly love, if not shared with others, soon dies.

Discover your hidden greatness by seeking to advance the greatness of others as well as your own. All great men do not have college degrees. Love, charity, tolerance, and understanding are also characteristics of great men.

- Nancy -
I'll never forget you. I don't know why - Maybe it's because of the way we met. Oh, well, from the back I thought you looked like Dee Dee. Best of luck in everything you do. Hope to see you again next year.
